Statements:

"I have excluded the node_modules folder from the project due to its large size and the upload platform's limitations on file sizes and zip folders. The node_modules folder contains all the project dependencies, but it can easily be regenerated when you reinstall dependencies 'npm install'.

While the exercise is excellent overall, clarity is needed on whether to render "-" only if a column value is truly empty, or also when the column contains specific placeholders like "unknown" or "n/a," as these scenarios can be interpreted differently based on the provided instructions.
To maintain consistency, I rendered "-" both when a column value is empty or has a placeholder as value.
